Berberis aquifolium
(Mahonia aquifolium)

Oregon grape

Moderately fast growing evergreen shrub grows to 7’ tall and 6’ wide. Spreads by underground rhizomes. Holly-like leaves. Dense clusters of mildly fragrant yellow flowers in the spring followed by edible purple berries (good for jelly). Cold hardy to 15° F. Tolerates poor soil. Beautiful winter coloring. Drought tolerant once established, but can tolerate weekly summer watering. Takes full sun to full shade. Tolerates pruning and can be made into a hedge.
