Frangula purshiana
Formerly Rhamnus purshiana

Cascara sagrada

Moderately fast growing shrub to 25’ tall and 15’ wide.
Can be pruned to being a tree or a shrub. Semi-deciduous, can be evergreen depending on severity of winter.
Part shade to filtered sun.
Pale insignificant flowers in the spring are followed by inedible berries that are an excellent food source for birds.
Excellent shrub for a bird garden.
Prefers well-draining, rocky soil.
Tolerates sand.
Tolerates seasonal flooding.

Part shade to filtered sun
Regular water
Attracts birds
Attracts butterflies