Sisyrinchium californicum

Yellow-eyed grass

A small perennial about 8 inches tall. Forms a small clump of iris leaves. Flowers are yellow and bloom late spring to early summer. Grows in the wild along the coast ranges. Great for moist meadow gardens, containers, and borders. Tolerates seasonal flooding. Foliage is evergreen. Flower color is yellow.

Afternoon shade
Regular water
Attracts butterflies