Symphoricarpos mollis

Creeping snowberry

General:
A woody groundcover with small pink flowers and white berries that persist though December. Berries are mildly TOXIC. Grows 12-16” tall and will root at the branch nodes in contact with the soil. Nice in a shady forest setting.

- full to part shade
- moderate water
- attracts hummingbirds
- attracts butterflies
- attracts birds